

KU Close Relationships Interest Group (CRIG) and IARR

New Directions in Research on Close Relationships

Nov. 5–7, 2009

CALL FOR PAPERS

The interdisciplinary Close Relationships Interest Group (CRIG) at the University of Kansas is pleased to announce a call for papers for the 2009 mini-conference of the International Association of Relationship Research (IARR):

New Directions in Research on Close Relationships: Integrating Across Disciplines and Theoretical Approaches

November 5–7, 2009 • University of Kansas • Kansas Union • Lawrence, Kansas

Submissions

Symposia

Individuals may submit proposals for panels of three or four talks on a related theme. The conference organizers will give preference to symposia that integrate the diverse theoretical perspectives motivating the conference.

Papers & Posters

Individuals may also submit papers and posters on any aspect of close relationships, with priority to emphasis on neuroscience, evolutionary and sociocultural approaches. Submissions should present new theoretical ideas, new systematic data or new methods. They should be suitable for a multidisciplinary audience.

Submission Deadline: March 30, 2009

Author notification: May 20, 2009

Go to <http://www.psych.ku.edu/gillath/iarr2009.html> for online applications and further information.

For questions about the conference, please contact:

Omri Gillath

Assistant Professor
KU Department of Psychology
ogillath@ku.edu
785-864-1772

Sponsored by The American Psychology Association; University of Kansas Office of the Provost and departments of Psychology and Communication Studies. Coordinated by KU Continuing Education. Funding for international scholars will be available.

Confirmed Speakers

Art Aron
Karen Bales
Brant Burleson
James Coan
Lisa Diamond
Bruce Ellis
Alan Fiske
Olcay Imamoglu
Benjamin Karney
Deborah Kashy
Heejung Kim
Jon Maner
Jeffry Simpson
Steve Wilson
Masaki Yuki

Online submissions: www.psych.ku.edu/gillath/iarr2009.html

Conference updates and online registration: www.ContinuingEd.ku.edu/programs/new_directions